Dearest Lytton,
This is just to say that I am now well again & it's very wonderful. But I don't want to talk about it. I should like to see you. I wonder where you are. I want 8 lines of Gray: 8 lines? for instance — for he got new ones? Also a bright idea strikes me. Let us all subscribe to buy a present for Clive. It must be a bold primitive bird framed of coarse talk nothing but filth. — to indulge in obscene caresses — the laughter coloured the latter. I believe we can get them Chap & Gander at the Dorchs. The thing is for us all to persuade him that the love of birds is the last word in Civilisation —

You might draw attention, to begin with,
to the Pheasantry Sanctuary, which heads the Sanctuaries in the North Sea before the Parson Dies.
We must interest him in bird life & farm poems.
He has already a pair of Gulls & Plovers:
the advantages of the plan are in the first place that Vanessa, in his absence, could hurry the Parrot into the basement or Cover the Cage with a towel — & Secretly, the would very likely after a few weeks Bird — watch another book on Birds —
The fowl could be called Molly or Polly — I commend this to you: Get 6d.
Interceptions: I hear the bird crying down. Lord am I keen to keep
I hear better.
Ellen Overhappiness is wonderful Good bye my
V. W.
